

Aboriginal Studies.

Study the concepts of social justice and shared histories of First Nations both in Australia and globally.

ATAR - BOARD DEVELOPED - CATEGORY A

About the Course

Aboriginal Studies will assist students to develop a heightened understanding and appreciation of the concepts of social justice and shared histories of First Nations both in Australia and globally. The course is designed to foster intellectual, social and moral development by enabling students to think critically about the historical and contemporary experiences of Aboriginal peoples. Find out more here.

What You Will Do

In this course you will develop knowledge and understanding about the historical and contemporary experiences of Aboriginal peoples, with a view to enabling you to be active and informed citizens in promoting a just society for all Australians and other International communities. We cover topics such as Aboriginality and the Land; Heritage and Identity; Social Justice and Human Rights Issues.

Future Opportunities

Aboriginal Studies provides a flexible structure to prepare for further education, training and employment. Students will develop analytical skills, the ability to pursue independent research and the ability to develop coherent arguments. Careers include Advocacy and counselling; Foreign relations and aid; and Arts and Heritage.