About the Course

English Standard is a rigorous subject that can challenge students. The HSC texts that we study have been selected to encourage students to consider the world outside of their own social sphere and to consider the way other races, cultures, and classes are represented. Students will question representations and think critically and independently about what factors or agendas are at work. Find out more here.

What You Will Do

In this course, we cover the Craft of Writing, Language, Culture and Identity, Close Study, and the Common Module (Texts and Human Experiences). You will study a range of texts including 'Billy Elliot', 'Jasper Jones', 'The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-time', and the poetry of Ali Cobby-Eckermann. Each text explores the perspectives of those pushed to the outskirts of society.

Future Opportunities

Arguably, every career demands a minimum standard of English. However, an English degree can lead to careers in social media marketing, writing/journalism/author, public relations. Lawyer, editor/publisher, HR specialist, EAL teacher, English teacher.
